A New and Modern Sanitarium In Shreveport

Latest Scientific Equipment

ON THANKSGIVING MORNING, when the doors of Shreveport's new and beautiful suburban hospital—The Tri-State Sanitarium—are opened, the public will have the opportunity to view one of the most modernly equipped institutions of its kind ever seen in this section of the South. Here are some of the modern wonders of the new Sanitarium, briefly tabulated for your information: Two large Major Operating Rooms, furnished with the newest improved equipment—Balfour operating tables, Barton No. Shadow lights, every instrument in modern usage. One Specialist—or—Gynecology—room, completely fitted and Obstetrical Department furnished with every scientific fixture, second to none. Simmons' all-steel furniture, for perfect sanitation and comfort. The Bryant improved metal sign lights, arranged for both light and bell signals. The building is so arranged that the nurse at the station may see throughout the corridors. The latest Victor X-Ray Equipment is installed, and there are facilities for the practice of Radiographic and Therapeutic work—superficial and deep therapy. We are also equipped to do electro-therapeutic work. The X-Ray is in charge of experts—Munsell L. Adair, M. D., and Amos J. Toups, Technician.

The building itself is one of impressive appearance, built along the best architectural lines, splendidly lighted, heated and arranged for sanitation and comfort. Outside rooms, cheerfully furnished, everything bright, clean, new and according to the latest scientific specifications. All the modern sciences of medicine and surgery will be practiced, and patients given a hearty welcome and the best of attention by physicians of splendid repute in the profession. You are invited to call and inspect this high-class institution, which we are proud to present to North Louisiana, East Texas and South Arkansas as a Thanksgiving offering.
